Last Jewish Professor Is Ousted From Faculty

OUT ON THE WEST COAST they're raving about a Jewish back of the University of California eleven. He's Perry Schwartz and he's shown at left as he tore through the center of the line for a first down on the University of Southern California's nineteen-yard line in the game Saturday which the Bears won 21 to 7. The University of California has yet to be beaten. They meet the undefeated U.C.L.A. grid squad Saturday.

BERLIN U. POST LOST BY SCHUR

BERLIN (JTA) — Issai Schur, noted mathematician, believed to be the last Jewish professor on a German university faculty, has resigned his post as professor of mathematics at the University of Berlin.

The 60-year-old professor had held the post for nineteen years. He came to the University of Berlin from Bonn University where he taught for three years.

He is a prominent mathematical theorist, noted for his work with algebra and the modern functional theories.

BERLIN (JTA)—There are only twelve Jewish students left in German colleges and universities, the Voelkischer Beobachter, official Nazi party organ, boasts in an article.

"Non-Aryans," as distinct from full-blooded Jews, the newspaper discloses, comprise only 0.41 per cent of the total registration. Foreign Jews, the Beobachter points out, comprise only seven per cent of the total registration of foreign students as against twenty per cent formerly.

Mozart Works Banned

BERLIN (JTA) — The Kulturbund, Jewish cultural group organized under the aegis of the Nazis, was suddenly notified that it would not be permitted to produce Mozart's operetta "Così fan tutte." Reason for the action was ascribed by the Nazi department for "non-Aryan" culture to the fact that Mozart was an "Aryan" and hence Jews should not be permitted to produce his works.

The prohibition was decreed on the eve of the operetta's premiere, despite the fact that Hans Hinkel, director of "non-Aryan" culture had given his approval of the program before rehearsals started.

Shushan Quits

NEW ORLEANS (Spl.)—New Orleans politics lost one of its most colorful figures when Abe L. Shushan sent in a formal resignation as president of the Orleans Levee Board to Governor O. K. Allen.

A staunch ally of Huey Long, Shushan's name is indelibly tied up with the city in the new Shushan airport. Shushan was recently acquitted by a jury of an indictment on charges of attempting to evade and defeat income tax statutes.

NEWLYWEDS—Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Cerf plan to reside in New York although Mrs. Cerf (Sylvia Sidney) will continue her screen work. According to present plans she'll commute to Hollywood.

ON NEW PROGRAM — Dave Rubinoff and his violin, are being featured on a new radio program over a national hookup.

NATIONALIST'S CAMPAIGN SWEEPS NEW ENGLAND

Nationalists Flood New England With Anti-Jewish Posters

Similar To Coast Drive

BOSTON (Spl.)—The anti-Semitic campaign of the American Nationalist Party assumed national proportions when Wellesley, Lexington, Concord, and Winchester, all towns near here, and many other New England cities reported house-to-house distribution of scurrilous proclamations urging readers to "Buy Gentile, Employ Gentile, Vote Gentile."

Jewish leaders here believe the New England campaign was launched simultaneously with the Pacific Coast drive reported last week.

In appearance like diplomas, the circulars are printed in two colors on legal size document, intended to add authenticity to the message.

Believe 50,000 Distributed

It is believed 50,000 copies of the circulars were distributed in New England alone.

The pamphlet reads in part:

"Now, whereas the Jews as a race in America have been accorded far greater courtesy, privilege and protection in the enjoyment of our Liberties and Equality of Opportunity than they have enjoyed in any other country; and under our liberal Constitutional guarantees these same Jews have had the brazen effrontery, under the cry of 'personal liberty,' to abuse that courtesy and that protection more grievously than under any other flag, as is shown in the following particulars, to-wit:

"Their cut-throat competition is destructive of all 'fair practice' and the American principle of 'live-and-let-live' in the trade world. By imitations, substitutions, and shoddy they endeavor to run all competitors out of business.

"Through a general reputation for sharp practices, low cunning, insurance frauds and dishonest bankruptcy proceedings, they have promoted a widespread contempt for the ordinary virtues of honor and honesty in business.

"They have through a long continued uniformity of racial conduct evidenced a positive contempt for every element of our Christian morality and common decency:

"By a distinctly racial program calling, wherever possible, for the seduction of a Shiksa (any Gentile girl, young or unprotected; and to whom as a class they have applied that most opprobrious, significant, and insulting epithet of 'chicken.'

Small Children Perverted

"By lewd and lascivious acts directly intended to introduce vice and perversions into the lives of small children.

"As an unseemly but truly racial characteristic, their great greed for money led them, in their haste to make all possible profit even from tragedy and death to hustle out the films of the late Rudolph Valentino, Marie Dressler and Will Rogers before the bodies of these famous artists were fairly cold in death.

"Now therefore it is proclaimed, that it is the inherent right and the solemn duty of all true and loyal Americans to use vigorously and concertedly the only means available to them, during all the period between October 1st and December 31st, 1935, in the following manner, to-wit:

"In every way, and wherever possible, to show an exclusive preference for Gentile merchants, Gentile professional men, and Gentile working people. Buy Gentile! Employ Gentile! Vote Gentile! Your dime spent at the movies may endorse and support further Jewish attacks upon our Christian morality."

Parents Killed in Crash

On Way To Son's Wedding
LEBANON, Pa. (Spl.) — En route to Chicago to attend the wedding of their son, Benjamin, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Lazovitch, 64 and 62, respectively, of Passaic, N. J., were injured fatally when their touring car and a coal truck crashed here. Sylvia Lazovitch, 22, and William Lazovitch, 20, daughter and son of the dead couple, were confined to the hospital with injuries. The truck driver and a companion of the Lazovitchs were injured also.

3 Speakers For Union

Completed plans for the annual meeting of the Indiana Union of Jewish Youth, November 2 and 3, have been announced by Alex Levin, general chairman.

All sessions will be held in the Claypool with exception of the Sunday morning meet which will take place in Kirshbaum Center.

Max Einstandig is in charge of the social program, and Mrs. Isaac Born is chairman for the adult committee, composed of presidents of all major Jewish organizations in the state.

Three outstanding speakers will appear here for the convale. They are Rabbi Barnett Brickner, of Cleveland, Ohio, Dr. Rabinowitz, national director of Student Activities for the Federated Temples of America, and Dr. I. M. Rubinov, executive secretary of the B'nai B'rith.

Special services for the Youth Convale will be held in the Indianapolis Hebrew Congregation, Tenth and Delaware Streets, and the Beth El Zedeck Congregation, Thirty-fourth and Ruckle Streets, on Friday evening, November 1. Harry Alpert will occupy the pulpit at Beth El Zedeck. He will speak on "Modern Jewish Youth," and Alex Levin will speak at the Indianapolis Hebrew Congregation on "Jewish Youth Faces Responsibilities."

Delegations from all parts of the state, including South Bend, Bloomington, Lafayette, and others will be present here for the meet.

Following the cultural program a delightful banquet and dance will be held for all persons registering for the convale. Registration fee will be one dollar.

Aza Hears Charry

Rabbi Elias Charry, of Beth El Zedeck Congregation was principal speaker at the annual AZA Day celebration meeting held Monday evening in Kirshbaum Center.

The program included addresses of welcome by officials and members of Aleph Zedeck Aleph, and stunts by the members.

B'nai B'rith members, parents, and friends were guests at the celebration.

USE OTHER SHIPS

WARSAW (JTA)—Immigration of Palestine will not suffer if league of Nations sanctions bar Italian ships from Palestine harbors, the Jewish Telegraphic Agency was informed by the Palestine Office.

Polish and Rumanian ships plying between Constanza, a Rumanian Black Sea port, and Haifa, will be able to handle immigration from Central Europe if boats carrying German and other Jewish migrants to Palestine are excluded from Italian harbors, authorities of the Palestine Office said.

Bishop Asks Riots End

KAUNAS, Lithuania (JTA)—Bishop Justinas Staugaitis of the Diocese of Telsiai agreed yesterday to issue an appeal through the churches of his diocese in an effort to stem anti-Jewish agitation which is assuming serious proportions. Minister of the Interior General Julius Caplikas stated that the authorities would permit no further anti-Jewish disturbances.

A delegation of leaders of the Telsiai Jewish Community, recently the scene of a violent outbreak of anti-Jewish rioting, including the stoning of many Jewish homes, received the Bishop's consent to take action. Tense anti-Semitic feeling has developed in towns surrounding Telsiai.

A military court held yesterday at Telsiai sentenced eighteen of the rioters to various terms in prison.

Sachar Talk Set Monday

The first of a series of two lectures will be given by Dr. A. L. Sachar, national head of the Hillel Foundations, at 8:15 o'clock Monday night, at the Kirshbaum Center under the auspices of the Jewish Community Center Association.

His subject will be, "Israel Weaves a Tapestry."

One of the most popular Jewish lecturers in the United States, Dr. Sachar has appeared often in Indianapolis. Last year he delivered a series of addresses on "The Jew in the World Today."

Is Wife of General

MILAN (Spl.)—A New York Jewish girl, daughter of Polish parents, is the wife of the guiding genius of Italy's Ethiopian forces. She is Lily Weisman, now Signora Attilio Teruzzi.

Residents here remember that Miss Weisman met her future husband in 1922 when she made her operatic debut at La Scala, here.

When Lily Weisman and Teruzzi were married, Mussolini himself was best man. He gave her a sapphire encrusted jewel case as a present.

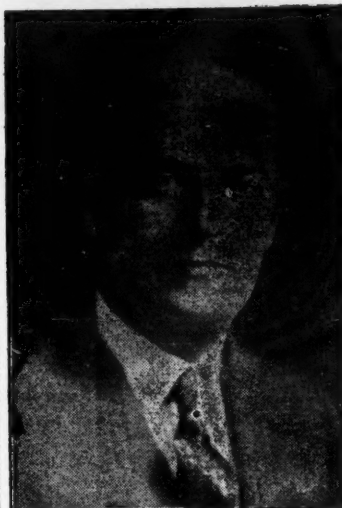

A total of 190 Jewish physicians on the German side were killed during the war. This constitutes more than 13 per cent of the total number of German physicians killed.

Premier's Wife Jewish; Promises Justice For All

WARSAW (Spl.)—Buoyed up by he news that the wife of newly-named Premier Marjan Zyndram Kosciolkowski, Madame Marjan Zyndram Kosciolkowski, is an observant Jewess, Polish Jewry looked upon the new administration with real hope for an amelioration of their financial plight which has reduced more than a million of the nation's three million Jews to actual want.

she attended services for the High Holidays. In Bialystok, it is said, that when the Kosciolkowski's were married, the ceremony was performed by a state official in order that Madame Kosciolkowski might not be forced to become a convert.

Composes Service

RABBI HELLER

A Friday night music service for solo voice in the synagogue has been published by Rabbi James G. Heller of Cincinnati.

Affair Set By Beth El

Jerome Wachter and Dr. Leon Levi have been appointed general chairmen for the Beth El Zedeck Men's Club annual Thanksgiving night affair, to be held in the Murat Temple.

The Men's Club will present Gilbert and Sullivan's comic opera "H.M.S. Pinafore" or "The Lass That Loved a Sailor." Rehearsals for the production are now being held. Anyone interested in taking a part, is asked to communicate with Dr. Levi. Harold E. Winslow, musical director at Emmerich Manual Training High School, is director.

Rehearsals are continuing every Monday and Wednesday night at 7:00 o'clock and Sunday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock at Beth El Temple. Lucia Wild is dance director.

Following each rehearsal refreshments are served, followed by a social hour. Motor transportation home is furnished.

"The affair promises to be one of the greatest events for Indianapolis Jewry in many years," Dr. Levi said. "The opera, a gala burlesque of the British Navy during the time of Queen Victoria, is rollicking, and full of tangled love plots," he pointed out.

A dance in the beautiful Egyptian Ballroom of the Murat, will follow the show. Louie Lowe and his orchestra will play.

General admission tickets will be one dollar. Boxes may be reserved.

David Sablosky and Herman Chalfie have been chosen to head the ticket teams for the Beth El Zedeck annual Thanksgiving night affair. The names of team members will be announced next week.

Mrs. William Sebel, Mrs. Jerome Wachter, and Mrs. Ben Shalansky will be in charge of sales for the Sisterhood. Present plans call for nine teams from the Men's Club, and three each from the Sisterhood, and the congregation.

Tell Plan For Tourist

BERLIN (Spl.)—How the Nazis prevent foreign students and professors visiting Germany from seeing any undesired aspects of the Hitler regime, was revealed here in an article in The Tageblatt, boasting of the propaganda work accomplished in one year by the "Foreign Bureau."

The bureau celebrated its first anniversary last week.

According to the Nazi plan, as explained by the newspaper, an instructor in Berlin University, is assigned by the propaganda office to be the personal companion of each visiting foreign teacher. Careful lists of foreigners studying in Berlin are kept by the university and various research institutions and clinics throughout the city.

Shortly after his arrival, it is shown, the foreign scholar is brought unostentatiously in contact with his companion, appointed for the post by the university's propaganda office.

The results of this well-laid plan are evidenced, the newspaper points out, in the many articles appearing in foreign publications which have been written by these visitors, and which are favorable to the Nazi regime.

Council To Hear Brown

Mrs. Demarchus Brown, noted speaker, will address the regular meeting of the Council of Jewish Women, at 2:15 Monday afternoon, in Kirshbaum Center. Her subject will be "Our Island Possessions in the Pacific."

Mrs. Samuel Dorfman will preside at this meeting, and Mrs. Isaac Born of the program committee, will introduce Mrs. Brown.

Miss Sarah Elizabeth Marks, local pianist of note, will present a musical program. Mrs. S. V. Romer will be in charge of the program. She will be assisted by Mrs. Louis Traugott.

A tea and social hour will follow.

Ballin Name Is Removed

BERLIN (JTA)—The name of the famous Jewish shipper was scratched off the prow of the liner Albert Ballin this week and in its place the Hamburg-American line substituted the name, Hansa.

The late Albert Ballin, close friend of the former Kaiser, was responsible for building up the German lines before and during the World War. He was a director of the Hamburg-American line.

He died in 1918 from a broken heart because he saw the disaster to which misguided German leadership was pointing.

The Albert Ballin was the first ship in the port of New York to hoist the Nazi swastika last month when it became Germany's national flag.

Admits Players Death

BERLIN (Spl.)—In face of the persistent and verified reports that a Jewish football player was murdered by Nazis during a game between a Nazi and a Polish team, the official German news service, admitted the death, in a special dispatch, but declared that the player, Baumgartner, was a special guard at the game.

The fatal accident occurred during the game, the news service stated, but not as a result of any public demonstration.

Newsreel Editors Hit Censors Of Nazi Scenes

NEW YORK (Spl.)—A declaration that they saw "no valid reason for the action" was made publicly by the editors of The March of Time newsreel following censorship of the scenes in which Nazis were shown attacking Jews by the Ohio Board of Censors and the Chicago censor.

The parts censored were the same in each case.

In Cleveland, E. L. Bowsher, state director of education, took the responsibility today for the deletion of the scenes. Mr. Bowsher said that he had seen the film before its general release and declared that the censorship was imposed because the scenes depicting Nazi attacks on Jews were "gruesome and might stir up bitter class feeling between Germans and Jews in Ohio."

Meanwhile in Ohio, prominent clergymen and liberals and rabbis criticized the action of the State Board of Censors.

The parts censored were scenes of Nazi storm Troopers raiding stores operated by Jews and burning books by Jewish authors. The narrative for these scenes was, "Hitler is the man who has wrought more evil on the Jews than any man in his generation."

The statement by the editors said: "The March of Time's narrative dealt with the colonization of Palestine by the Jews. In giving its audience proper background to appreciate this important world movement, the editors included scenes of Nazi anti-Jewish activity — activity largely responsible for the migration of Jews from Germany to Palestine."

Classes At JEA Monday

Miss Pearl Becker, of New York, a graduate of the Jewish Teachers Institute, has been added to the staff of the Jewish Educational Association. She also graduated from the Teachers College of Columbia University, holding the B.S. degree in Education.

Miss Becker will be in charge of the Hebrew Kindergarten conducted daily at the Neustadt School as well as of regular classes conducted at the Isaac Marks Branch of the Hebrew School at Kirshbaum Center.

The Hebrew Kindergarten which was closed for the summer will reopen during the week of November 4. Registration for pupils will be held on November 4 and 5 with official opening on Wednesday morning, November 6. Children, ages 4 to 6 will be eligible for the kindergarten class. For the pupils who find it too hard to walk to the kindergarten, bus service is available at a very nominal charge. No pupils will be accepted after the opening of the kindergarten until the spring term.

The beginners class which was opened at the Rabbi Neustadt Talmud Torah last week has been filled, and a new beginners class will open at the Rabbi Neustadt Talmud Torah by the middle of November. Parents who want their children to begin in this class may register them at the Talmud Torah beginning with Monday, November 4. As soon as a sufficient number has been registered, the class will open.

A beginners class will also be open at the Isaac Marks Branch of the Hebrew School conducted at the Kirshbaum Center. The number of pupils enrolled in the class has been limited and as soon as the required number is registered, the class will begin. Children of seven years and older are eligible for beginners classes.

Adult Class

An adult Hebrew class for the study of conversational Hebrew is conducted at the Kirshbaum Center every Tuesday evening at 8:15 p. m. People interested in the study of conversational Hebrew are urged to communicate with the Jewish Educational Association office, Dr. 6505 or Mr. Gallin who is in charge of this class.

The Grecian influence is still apparent in the widespread use of draping. Both Patou and Paray work their draperies like those of Tanagra figurines, in the purely classic tradition.

In Persia there exists a law whereby a Jew or Christian who converted to Islam becomes an heir to the property of his entire family.

Prisoner Wants Bar Mitzvah CINCINNATI, O. (Spl.)—Results of Rabbi Israel Schiffrin's High Holy Day Services at the United States Industrial Reformatory in Chillicothe, O., were revealed here when one of the prisoners asked that he be prepared for Bar Mitzvah so he may learn to lead a Jewish life, and a second prisoner requested authorities to secure prayer books for regular morning prayers.

Rabbi Schiffrin, who conducts services in the prison each year, declared that the prisoner who wanted to become Bar Mitzvah was born in a small town where no other Jewish families lived.

The Union of American Hebrew Congregations here arranged to fulfill both requests.

FUNERAL DIRECTORS

Herman Meyer and Son

1525 So. Third Street

Vincent At Kirschbaum

Dr. George E. Vincent will speak at the season's second Open Forum in Kirschbaum Community Center at 8:15 o'clock Sunday evening, November 10. His subject will be "The Scientific Spirit and Education."

Dr. Vincent, who is among the leaders in the field of education and science, was formerly head of the University of Minnesota and the Rockefeller Foundation.

Open Forum meetings are free to Center members. Dr. Louis Segar will preside.

Jr. Hadassah Party Is Set

With all plans completed and nine teams vigorously competing to sell the greatest number of tickets, the annual Junior Hadassah Mass Card Party set for Wednesday evening, November 6, at the Columbia Club, promises to be an outstanding success.

A unique program has been arranged by Sarah Shallot, general chairman. Miss Shallot announced that beautiful door and table prizes will be awarded.

The competing teams are headed by Eva Bluestein, Ethel Blum, Raye Gurwitz, Dena Caplan, Lena Cohen, Esther Bernstein, Sadye Dock, Ida Sacks and Mae Ladin.

Aid Acknowledged

Acknowledgment of aid by two organizations, Phi Delta Gamma Fraternity and the Council Juniors, was made by officials of the Community Building.

Phi Delta Gamma, who hold their weekly meetings in the Caroline M. Kahn Memorial Cabin, sponsor the Thursday night community dances and provide volunteer workers for the library several nights a week. The second group assists in the library and with gymnasium work. Mary Effymson, and Nettie Dulberger, were called for special notation.

Charity, Like Courtesy And Judaism Is Foreign To New York

Since charity is a cardinal precept of Jewish religion, absence of charity is a clear indication of lack of Judaism.

Consequently the failure of New York's 2,000,000 Jews to support even by so much as half, the Jewish charitable institutions of that city, must be interpreted as convincing evidence of the gradual disappearance of Judaism from New York.

The Federation for the Support of Jewish Philanthropic Societies sought $4,008,000 to support its 91 affiliated charities. Two million New York Jews gave slightly more than 50 cents per capita. Under the effort of an intense drive $1,377,000 was raised. Now the Federation is completing organization for its campaign set for November 17 to raise the needed $2,636,000 deficit to continue to feed, clothe, doctor and sustain the city's Jewish poor, sick and needy.

The disgraceful sum contributed by New York correlates with figures for synagogue membership. Out of every four adult Jews in America, only one is affiliated with a synagogue or temple. Since communities smaller than New York boast synagogue membership in many cases as high as eighty per cent, the real figures for New York must be considerably lower than even one out of five or six.

If from seventy-five to ninety per cent of adult Jews in New York ignore Judaism, then the probabilities are that they ignore charity. With the result that undeniably worthy charitable campaigns such as the annual Federation drive must contend with not a 25 per cent or a 50 per cent cut in their budget but a 66 per cent cut. In terms of human misery these facts are incalculable.

If then the broad solution for the charity problem lies in a return to active Judaism, the attack must be along a broad front. Answers to a poll conducted by the Union of American Hebrew Congregations indicate clearly a desire for the return to the pageantry and unquestioning faith of orthodoxy. Perhaps this, with its corollary of better education for Jewish youth, will be the eventual solution.

In the Stuyvesant High School in New York last Sunday, 521 gold, silver and bronze medals were awarded honor pupils in the city's Jewish religious schools before a packed audience. Drive leaders realize that these students and their less able school-mates will after adulthood be much more likely to contribute and contribute liberally to charity.

Lawrence Marx, leader of the drive, described the present financial situation of the Federation as "precarious." His choice of word is almost euphemistic. Eat only one meal of three a day and you will sense as poignantly as your stomach muscles can ache what it means to subsist on a 33 per cent fare. Then transmit this gnawing pain to the unremitting misery and dependence of those whose stomachs and needs and ills suffer because charity like courtesy and Judaism is a lost attribute to New York and you have a partial comprehension of the problem.

Boston, Chicago, Minneapolis, Indianapolis, Nashville and Columbus Contribute To U.S. Culture

The great contribution of any group to a culture lies ostensibly in its gift of artists and geniuses. Nevertheless it is possible for the group to make another contribution which if not as brilliant is certainly more substantial:

It is exactly this which Jewish communities are doing.

By efforts designed to raise the cultural level of entire communities, Jewish organizations throughout the United States are performing an invaluable service.

It is in the forum series, appearance of lecturers and artists and in the affording of these communities the opportunity to hear and see the great masters, that Jewish organization are, as they have down through the ages, acting as catalyzing agents for the advancement of the arts in not only large metropolises but also in provincial centers.

Just a few of the cities whose cultural appetites will be enriched by the desire of Jewish groups to add to the artistic life of the cities in which they reside, are Boston, Chicago, Minneapolis, Nashville, Indianapolis and Columbus. In four of the above cities, the appearances are arranged under the auspices of the Council of Jewish Women. Adath Jeshurun Congregation is conducting the program in Minneapolis, and the Kirshbaum Center is presenting the Indianapolis forum.

If an appreciative milieu is an essential for the cultivation of genius, then United States Jewry can certainly claim its share in the fostering of American Art.

That N.Y.A.C. Business

Despite the fact that officially the New York Athletic Club has no Jews on its membership roster—and if you care to call Circle 7-5100 the secretary of the club will cheerfully admit there are no tribesmen on the rolls—we have it on the best of information that there are several. And at least one of them who is known to our informant makes no effort to conceal or deny his racial origin, although he comes from an old-line Portuguese-Jewish family and his name is distinctly not of the giveaway variety.... Gen. Sherrill, the gentleman who tete-a-teted with Herr Hitler, while abroad discoursed on practically every subject under the sun.... At an address before the University Club in Paris, according to an account in the Paris Herald, he spoke of Hitler as a "man of great personal charm.".... And described Maxim Litvinoff as "the greatest European Jewish statesman since Disraeli"....

Must Be a Nazi Trick

Magistrate Brodsky of black-flag-of-piracy fame will be practically speechless to learn that he is being described in some portions of the European press as a Catholic rather than a Jew.... Both the Parisier Haint and the Warsaw Haint published front page yarns—where they got the information is a deep mystery—to the effect that "The American Foreign Office has officially notified the German Foreign Office" that the pirate-eating magistrate is not Jewish.... Looks as though several editors will be wearing very sheepish grins when they discover how badly they've been taken in....

Veteran Campaigner

Jacob Billikopf, we hear, is about ready to start on his tour of twelve cities in the South on behalf of the United Jewish Appeal.... Which recalls that Billikopf, who is executive director of the Philadelphia Federation of Jewish Charities, was in charge of the first War Relief Drive during which

ROB MELCHETT HOME

LONDON (JTA)—Police were this week hunting for burglars who broke into Lord Melchett's country residence, Colworth House, near Bradford, and made away with jewelry valued at $20,000. Lord Melchett is prominently identified with Zionist and other Jewish activities in England.

Herbert Bayard Swope, noted Jewish journalist, won the Pulitzer prize in 1917. He was war correspondent for the New York World from 1914-16.

Lady Alice Scott, whose wedding to the Duke of Gloucester took place last Thursday in London, is the granddaughter of Hannah Rothschild.

Twelve of the banks cooperating in the new German domestic loan for 500,000,000 marks are Jewish owned.

The "Night of Stars", held in Madison Square Gardens recently, netted $65,000 for the United Jewish Appeal.

M. Rabinovitch, prominent Italian Jewish film producer, has been ordered to Abyssinia to make pictures of all military developments there.

$25,000,000 was raised.... And it was none other than Billikopf who inspired the late Julius Rosenwald to give his first million dollar contribution to a charitable cause.

Inventor

You probably weren't aware of the fact that the co-inventor of Thiokol, which is a synthetic rubber with a big future, is Nathan Mnookin (that's the correct spelling) who founded the first two Aleph Zadik Aleph chapters in America.... Freedom of The Press

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Gerson B. Levi On Sherrill And The Olympics

To the Editor,

Gerson B. Levi's editorial in The Reform Advocate last week was so complete an answer to General Sherrill's shameless remarks on the Olympic situation that I thought your readers would like to see it. I hope you reprint it in full.

"Did it never occur to the General that the very need for his appealing for the presence of one Jew on the German team was a confession of something that he should as an advocate of sports never have neglected. Did he not see the strange situation of sending athletes from all corners of the world into the one place in the world that was totally lacking in the spirit of the sportsman? Does he not know that under present conditions the Jewish athlete is not secure? Did he not read how a Jewish member of a football team was murdered by the Nazi mob? Does he not know that athletic teams in Germany have not permitted Jews to do any practicing with anybody who was not a Jew? Does he not know that the conditions of life have been such for the Jew that it is just stupid to assume that athletics can thrive? Does he not know that the whole program of the German government has been such as to drive the Jewish youth from Germany? Does he know about Manfred von Richthofen, who was the ace of the German fliers during the war and celebrated and lauded until the Nazis came into power, and then when the Nazis set aside a day to honor the memory of the war heroes. Manfred von Richthofen's name was not even mentioned? He had a Jewish grandmother.

"But the general does worse. He sounds a warning to the Jews of America and he insults two groups of people. He insults the American sports loving world. He is saying that a multitude of Americans are training for these Olympics and they want to see Germany, and if Jewish agitation will prevent them from going to Germany they will blame the Jews. Are American athletes of that type that the general assumes? Have they just as poor an understanding of the attitude of the genuine sportsman as has the general? These men whom the general has slandered have competed with Jews, they have rejoiced in the game and they have shaken the hand of a Jewish athlete when victory came to the Jew. For them there were no race distinctions. They will not be happy to see that Jews will be kept out of the competitions, but will even be kept out as spectators.

"But the threat that Sherrill holds over the heads of Jews in this country is still. Unless the Jews keep away from the Catholics —he threatens them with persecution in this country. It is just too bad. The general is anxious that his little interview with Hitler be not spoiled for him. But the Jew cannot keep quiet. He would be of little meaning if he did not say that the whole situation is iniquitous. There are brothers of his in Germany who are being treated worse than animals. Every avenue of life is being closed to them. Their children are being crippled and tortured. The aged are being starved. The youth are given no hope. Even if they obey the suggestions of the German government and leave the country, they are robbed—literally robbed—before they can leave. They leave the country penniless and create problems to themselves and to the new lands where they attempt to set up a new life for themselves. And through all this Jews should keep quiet. What would General Sherrill have said to a situation of Jews, if he had not spent a little acquiescence on the part of all time seeing the beauties of German landscape and listening to people in Germany who know their business far better than the General knows his."

TO MOVE CHILDREN

NEW YORK (Spl.)—Hadassah's work for the immediate future will be concentrated on transferring refugee children from Germany to Palestine, if the proposal unanimously endorsed by the national board is adopted at the national convention.

Meeting here, the national board decided to replace the emphasis on hospital work with the refugee problem.

It is possible, according to the announcement, that refugee children from other European countries will be included in the plan.

The twenty-first annual convention in Cleveland, Nov. 28 to Dec. 1, will make the final decision on the question.

LODZ, Poland (JTA)—Convicted of having aided in the smuggling across the Polish border of emigrants bound for Biro-Bidjan, Jewish autonomous territory in the Soviet Far East, fifty Jews were sentenced by the district court Tuesday to serve from one to three years in prison.

Three others were acquitted of complicity after a trial lasting many days.

"Yes" Vote Held Vital

On November 5 the voters of Kentucky will go to the polls to make a decision on one of the most important questions that has confronted them in recent years. The question is adoption or rejection of Constitutional Amendment No. 1, adoption of which will pave the way for effective regulation and control of the liquor industry in Kentucky.

The state is in a situation today which is all but intolerable. Here are the facts in the case: prior to 1933, Kentucky was dry under both the Eighteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution and a State Constitutional Prohibition Amendment. In 1933, national repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment legalized the distilling industry only so far as the Federal Government is concerned. The state was left with State Prohibition laws which, under our State Constitution, could not be repealed until the election in November, 1935. Pending the election the State Legislature in 1934 passed an act known as the Liquor Control Act which now permits (as an emergency measure) the sale of alcoholic beverages.

The Prohibition Amendment will remain as a permanent part of our State Constitution, unless it is repealed by the voters on November 5.

A vote for Repeal ("Yes" for Amendment No. 1) is simply a vote to put an end to Constitutional Prohibition in Kentucky (as was done nationally by repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment) and to replace it with a system under which each county, city, town or precinct may decide for itself whether or not alcoholic beverages may be sold therein.

Under present conditions, individual localities do not have the privilege of deciding for themselves whether or not alcoholic beverages shall be sold within their borders, because the right of "local option" was taken away by the State Prohibition Amendment, which is still a part of the Constitution, and which would be repealed by adoption of Amendment No. 1.

Adoption of Amendment No. 1 will not only clarify the present muddled situation regarding control of the liquor industry—it goes farther than that. Unless the Amendment is adopted, Kentucky will be faced with the loss of its huge distilling industry, an industry vital to the economic well-being of the state, and one which has been in large part responsible for Kentucky's ascent from the depths of the depression. Loss of the liquor industry will mean, first, total loss of employment to the thirty thousand men who have found work in distilleries and allied industries. Farmers will see the disappearance of a market which last year purchased more than 9,000,000 bushels of grain, with a consequent greatly improved price for the total grain production. The more than $11,000,000 paid for the grain was of incalculable value to the farmers who had for years been forced to contend with a steadily decreasing market and low prices.

If the distilling industry is driven from the state by an adverse vote on November 5, the whole program of taxation will be upset. During the past year, the distilling industry has paid eight different forms of taxes. Payment to the state alone exceeded $3,600,000, and during the coming year it will be greatly increased. If the liquor revenue is lost, the State Legislature will be forced to one of two alternatives: (1) to cut state expenses, including relief, and public works upon which many depend for employment, by more than $10,000 per day; (2) to raise an additional $3,600,000 by new levies, probably by a greatly increased sales tax on the necessities of life. City, town and county taxes are expected to rise, too, unless the distilling industry is saved for the state by a "Yes" vote for the Amendment. The money paid in as license fees by liquor dealers has proven a very welcome source of revenue to these governmental units, and one that has helped in meeting the greatly increased demands placed upon them in recent years.

Unless the state votes "Yes," greatly increased taxes will be needed to provide for the large army of "enforcement officials" necessary to control the bootlegger. The experiment with national prohibition vividly demonstrated the evils of a bootleg liquor industry.

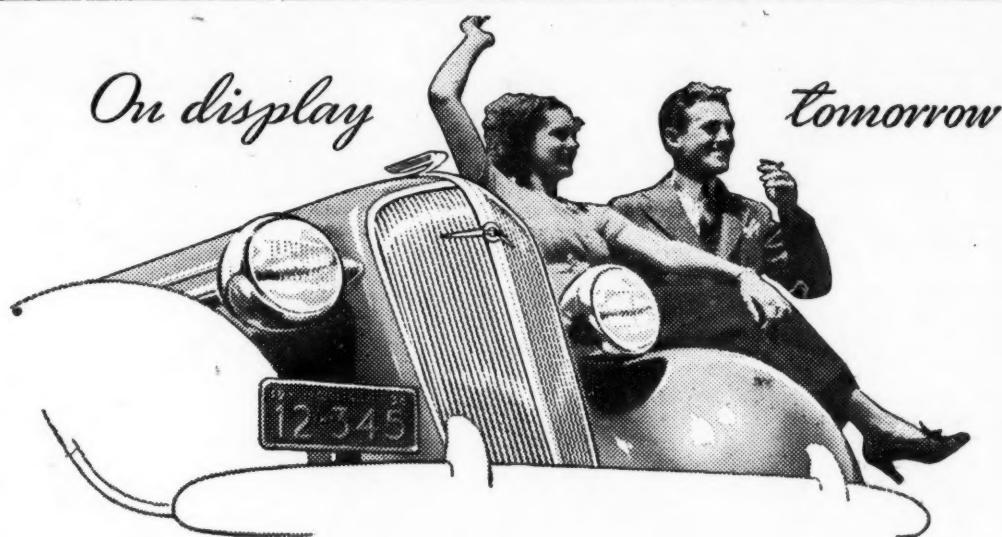

On November 5th the voters of Kentucky will be called upon to decide whether under the state constitution the distilling industry will continue to work for Kentucky prosperity, or whether we will revert to the chaos of absolute prohibition. As it stands today the constitution of Kentucky prohibits the manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquors to the public; yet, by an act of the Kentucky legislature the state tax commission, under a temporary act, was given power to issue permits for the sale of spirituous liquors throughout the state. This law has been in operation for more than fifteen months. It amply fulfilled the intents for which it was passed, that is to provide a source of much needed revenue to the state, but it has failed to give us proper regulation.

Constitutional Amendment No. 1 is being proposed to the voters of Kentucky on November 5th to, first, repeal Kentucky's prohibition amendment; second, to reinstate Section 61 of the constitution which provides for local option; and third, to make the way clear for effective control and regulation.

Summarized, adoption of Amendment No. 1 will (1) provide for intelligent control of the liquor industry and restore the right of "local option"; (2) save for Kentucky one of its most important industries, with its attendant economic advantages; (3) continue the present inflow of needed tax money; and, (4) avoid the evils of a "bootleg" liquor industry.

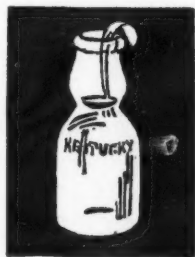

For the good of Kentucky, for your own benefit, vote "Yes."—Advertisement.)

Jewish Woman, Santa Fe Pioneer, Tells Hardships

NEW YORK (JTA)—The "pretty tenderfoot bride of the Santa Fe Trail," now 80 years old, told a captivated audience at the fortieth annual meeting of the American Jewish Historical Society at the Jewish Theological Seminary, her part in the ox-cart pioneer days when Indians and "bad men" made travel for a woman dangerous.

Spry and active for her age, Mrs. Flora Spiegelberg, known as the oldest living American pioneer woman of New Mexico, recounted the romantic highlights of her life in Santa Fe where her husband operated the general store.

Mrs. Spiegelberg recalled meals she had eaten consisting of dried buffalo meat, beans, red or green peppers, coffee and tea without milk or sugar, and occasional delicacies such as buffalo tongues or bear steaks. Her reminiscences included episodes in the Spiegelberg's friendship with Ulysses S. Grant, William Tecumseh Sherman and Philip H. Sheridan, who were active in the army campaigns to bring order to the West.

Mrs. Spiegelberg's story was applauded loudly by the audience.

According to early season predictions furs will be the outstanding fashion note of the season, whether it's just an ascot or a full-length mink. The American woman is beginning to realize that furs are no longer luxuries but are absolutely necessary to her wardrobe. The demand this year is tending more towards higher priced furs rather than for inferior unreliable types.

It's a Season of Glamor and Glitter

Style prophets predict a season of dazzling effects and sumptuous dress. According to the signs of the times women will sparkle from morning to night this fall and winter.

Their silk velvets will be embroidered with strass. Their wool-like silks will be elaborated with gilt braid. Sleeve ends and collars worked in a solid mass of huge sequins will challenge the supremacy of fur on evening coats. Silk chiffons will be beaded and silk crepes pailletted for formal wear either in allover patterning or confining their glitter to belts and angel sleeves or scarfs. Gorgeous silk lame lapels will adorn evening tailleurs with which matching lame turbans and blouses, bags and belts will be worn.

Jeweled ornaments will hold the drapes of harem skirts and clasp shirred and bloused bodices. Seed pearls will make chokers (new high collar fashion) and form passementerie embroidery—thus the story of glitter and glamor might run on ad infinitum.

Fabrics weighted down with beading, embroideries, sequins and jeweled ornamentation must hold and not pull out of shape. Women want their cloaky surfaced silks to stay in, their crinkles to remain crinkled. They want to be assured that their taffetas will stay crisp, their chiffons and crepes not to grow sleazy and sloppy and so they are coming to realize more and more that care and discrimination must be exercised in choosing quality-kind fabrics. Which explains the reason why the demand for silks that are pure silk (the inherent elasticity of silk is important) is more insistent this season than it has been in many a previous year. So much for the practical side of the question and now let us turn to the models pictured with a view to studying each individually since they are so charmingly illustrative of the current trend to glitter, glamor and to dazzling effects in the silk parade of fall and winter fashions.

The beautiful model to the right is fashioned of rich silk lame in a delectable tone of blue, shot with silver. The square decolletage is set off by jeweled clips the like of which also form the buckle for the belt. The short sleeves are interestingly cut on kimona lines, giving fullness to sleeves and shoulder.

Eastern influence in evening fashions is most pronounced. Note the sari shawl of gold sequins which envelopes head and shoulders, adding brilliance to the stately black gown pictured to the left, which is made of a handsome silk velvety sheer. A tunic effect is simulated via an adroitly positioned ruffle on the skirt whose princess lines are slenderizing in a subtly sophisticated way. This ruffle ties at the back in a clever pose. The smartest dressed women regard black with the glittering note as first in fashion this season. (Continued on Page 7)

HOLLYWOOD—This story is a little late but not so late as were Sally Eilers and hubby Harry Joe Brown on their way to Temple, eve of Yom Kippur. They dashed from the house into their car...speeded madly past signal lights...lurched to a stop in front of an imposing edifice...rushed breathlessly up the steps, through the double doors...and found themselves...in the First Presbyterian Church!

Rubinoff prefers broadcasting to movie-making... "In New York you stand in front of the microphone and look it sternly in the eye... in Hollywood the darn things are so tame they follow you around!"

The aftermath of the Marx Brothers' preview was almost as hilarious as the picture... what with all the dear little autograph hounds pouncing on everyone with a moustache or a cigar. And all the time, standing quietly aside, was Groucho or Chico. Or was it Harpo? Anyway, one urchin collected nine Marx autographs!

Chico's remark in "A Night at the Opera" that "he's not Italian, but his father and mother are" reminds us of the time we did a little sleuthing about Rosemary LaBie. "Is she Jewish?" we asked. "Well, no-o-o," we were informed, "that is, not exactly. But her father is!" Hollywoodized, she'll emerge as Diana Gibson for your approval.

On and off the lots: Hans and Fritz Rainer, brother and cousin respectively of Luise Rainer, are having a look-see at Flickerville. Likewise, Wolfgang, Max Reinhardt's son, wishes to enter film work. Harry Green has given up comedy for a funnier business... he's an agent. Sylvia Sidney Cerf's permanent address will be New York... she'll commute to work to the coast. Whenever Francis Lederer picks up the phone he says, "Here is Francis Lederer speaking." June Travis didn't bet on Pop's team to win the series... she put her salary on the Cubs though her father is an official of the Chicago White Sox. The former of Selznick International Pictures by David Selznick smacks of the old days when his father headed Select Pictures. And rumors would put Sam Katz back in the saddle at Paramount, his original berth. Are Sylvia Sidney's parents rifting or just drifting?

A certain Johnny Walker has produced a Yiddish talking picture... is now busy cutting and assembling it... and he knows not one word of Yiddish!

Cheerio!

Sumptuous Wrap

It's a modish gesture to top one's velvet evening gown with a wrap of sumptuous, scintillating silk lame. Only when seen in the original can the striking beauty of the model pictured be fully appreciated, for the actual coloring is superb. The glittering orange silk lame of the coat contrasts the black velvet to perfection. A flower of matching orange lame decorates the lapel with high artistry. The lines of this winsome wrap are "young" and flattering. The coat has a back swagger flare such as is characteristic of the newer fashions.

Services At Neustadt

The Junior Congregation of the Rabbi Neustadt Talmud Torah will resume services at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning, November 2, at the Neustadt Auditorium.

These services are conducted by the pupils of the school with their own members in full charge under the supervision of the staff.

New prayer books and talesim were donated to the Congregation by Mr. Robert Stolkin in memory of his father, Max Stolkin. Mr. Stolkin will officially present the Congregation with the books and talesim.

SEASON OF GLAMOR

Greatest enthusiasm is shown for the cocktail dress or suit that adopts street length, it being a new entrant in the formal realm. The girl seated is wearing such a suit, its formality attested in the silk metal cloky tunic jacket with the now-so-fashionable frog fastening at the waistline. The afternoon dress is of a grainy silk crepe in the same aqua blue shade as the metal cloky which fashions the jacket. A jeweled clip accents the draped neck. The peaked beret with its ornamental veil is high-style in its every detail.

Surprise Anniversary Party

Mrs. Louis Elkovits and Mrs. Leo Schuster entertained last week with a delightful surprise dinner-party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lipot Frankovitz, in honor of their sister, Mrs. Sidney Friedman, and Mr. Friedman, who recently celebrated their tenth wedding anniversary. Covers were laid for one hundred guests, and table decorations included gold chrysanthemums and pink roses. A beautiful wedding cake was the centerpiece.

Goldstein-Goldman

The marriage of Mollie Goldstein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Goldstein, 1040 S. Meridian Street, to Ben Goldman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Goldman, took place Sunday evening, with Rev. Abraham Portnov officiating.

The groom's sister, Miss Ann Goldman, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Bessie Goldstein, sister of the bride, and Sylvia Malkoff, a cousin, of Chicago, Ill. Abe Goldstein, brother of the bride, was best man. Ushers were Jack Linkon and Ben Wechsler, both of Chicago. Mrs. Aaron Cohn was matron of honor.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mrs. Harry Reitman, Mr. and Mrs. Segal, Sylvia Becker, Mr. and Mrs. M. Linkon and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. I. Linkon and son, Mr. and Mrs. Malkoff and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. H. Wechsler and son, all of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. N. Linkon and family of DuQuoin, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Yaffe and family of St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. L. Linkon and family, of Vincennes, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. William Linkon and daughter of Centralia, Ill.; and Mr. and Mrs. J. Becker, Mr. and Mrs. N. Becker and Mr. and Mrs. I. Becker and families, also of Chicago, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Goldman are at 1040 1-2 South Meridian Street.

Lichtenberg-Caplin

The marriage of Miss Sylvia Lichtenberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Lichtenberg, 1710 Roosevelt Avenue, to Charles Caplin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Caplin, was solemnized Sunday, in the Knesses Israel Synagogue. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Samuel Levin.

The bride's attendants included her sister, Neoma Lichtenberg, who was maid of honor, Beatrice Urwitz and Rachael Cohen, bridesmaids, Mrs. A. Arthur Schwartz, sister of the groom, matron of honor, and Daniel Geller and Martin Weinstein, ushers. Melvin Lichtenberg, brother of the bride, was best man. A reception followed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Caplin have left the city on a wedding trip, and will be at home next week, at 2344

Park Avenue.

Tidyon-Ha-Ben

Rabbi and Mrs. Elias Charry announce that the Tidyon-Ha-Ben for their son, Marlin David, will take place Sunday afternoon, at the residence, 2822 Central Avenue, at 2:30.

All members of the Beth El Zedek Congregation, and the entire community are invited.

Frat

Members and guests of the Chi Gamma Phi Fraternity were entertained with a Hallowe'en party Sunday evening at Zimmer's Club House. A special program of entertainment was presented and dancing followed.

Prizes for the most outstanding costumes were awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Leve, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kollinger, Mrs. Joseph Sofnas, and Isadore Bartick.

Miss Helen Goldstein entertained friends with a bridge party and bridal shower last week in honor of Miss Mollie E. Goldstein, whose marriage to Benjamin L. Goldman took place Sunday.

City Icor Arrange

Biro Bidjan Movie

Biro Bidjan, the autonomous Jewish state, will be the scene of a Yiddish talking picture to be presented at 7:00 o'clock Thursday night, November 7, at the Communal Building.

The picture is centered about the celebration of the Harvest Festival in Biro Bidjan, and shows the progress made by Jews since the country was given to them by the Soviet government.

The Indianapolis Chapter of Icor, sponsors of the show, have invited everyone in the community to attend. There will be an admission charge of twenty-five cents for adults and ten cents for children.

Book Reviews Set

The Indianapolis Section, National Council of Jewish Women, will have their first book review of the new year, in Kirshbaum Center, Wednesday morning at 10.

Kathryn Turney Garten will review "Jane Adams," by James Webster Linn, and "North To the Orient" by Anne Lindberg.

Guns Placed Near Haifa Jew Says He Is Spy

HAIFA (Spl.)—Erection of two six-inch guns near Acre, famed fortress of ancient and medieval times, and placing of two additional guns near Bath Gallim, on the northern end of Haifa Bay, are being rushed as first moves in the English plan for fortification of Palestine.

Meanwhile a staff of 200 men are en route from England to supervise fortifications in the Holy Land.

The newest danger point to be fortified is the Rutenberg electric power station near which two anti-aircraft guns have been placed. Haifa, observers declared, is being fortified to protect the Mosul oil line, which terminates here at this British naval base.

Ban Film Showing

JERUSALEM (JTA) — The showing of the film, "The Promised Land," a release of the Keren Hayesod (Jewish colonization agency) was prohibited today by the authorities until a calmer atmosphere prevails in Palestine, as a result of the secret arming charges by the Arabs and the scheduled general strike tomorrow.

Ask Jews To Yield Arms

JERUSALEM (JTA)—A memorandum was presented today to the Government by an organization of Arab women demanding that Jews be made to deliver to the Government within ten days 10,000 guns, 50,000 revolvers and a million bullets.

The City of Newport helps to defray the expenses of the Newport Synagogue out of funds left in charge of the city by Judah Touro.

LONDON (Spl.) — Disclosure that Chalm Beneber, a Jew high in the esteem of London's Jewish community, is in the employ of the Nazi secret police, has perturbed Jewish leaders here.

According to his own statements, Beneber, who attended the recent sessions of the World Zionist Congress in Lucerne, is receiving $150 monthly from the Hitler regime to report activities of German refugees.

Beneber, it is said, has been informing the German foreign office of the activities of Jewish organizations in Germany, and what these organizations have been telling Jews of the world of conditions in Germany.

Contract With Italy

TRIESTE (Spl.)—Despite the announcement that Palestine would cooperate with the League of Nations in applying sanctions against Italy, the Zionist committee in Locarno has signed a contract with the Lloyd Triestino Steamship Company for the transportation to the Holy Land during 1936 of 80,000 Polish Jews, it is reported.

PERRETZ GETS CALL AT END FOR CHICAGO U.

Moved From Guard To Fill New Position

CHICAGO (Spl.)—Coach Clark Shaughnessy, head grid mentor of the University of Chicago, has made Bob Perretz, senior letterman, a regular end on the Maroon varsity. At the start of the Big Ten grid season there was a great deal of doubt as to who would be chosen to play at the left flank in the Maroon line. Perretz, who won his spurs as a guard last year, was switched to end and made such an impressive showing that he is playing the position regularly.

On numerous occasions Bob has sifted through the line of the opposition to block punts and stop the ball carrier before he could get started. He is recognized as a great diagnostician and a dependable tackler.

Few Jews In Arctic

OMAHA (Spl.)—Decline in the number of Jews in Alaska and the Arctic, was reported by Dr. Victor Levine, member of the Explorers Club, composed of Stefansson, Amundsen, Admiral Byrd and other famous explorers, on his return from his third trip into the far North.

"At one time," Dr. Levine declared, "there were enough Jews in Nome alone to make several 'minyans.' Now there are only about a dozen Jews left in the city."

Asked about the occupations of the dozen or so Jews in Nome, Dr. Levine stated that two of them own "primitive" department stores, while the remaining few are either miners or fur traders.

Dr. Levine told of a Jewish woman in Deering, just a few miles below the Arctic Circle, who is immensely wealthy.

NEW YORK (Spl.)—Miss Esther Anspach, 58, died here in the Memorial Hospital unaware that her brother, Nicholas Adams, 64, had died a few hours previously in his residence, 3681 Broadway. Because of her critical condition, physicians had not told Miss Anspach of her brother's death.

Double funeral services were held at the Riverside Memorial Chapel.

Adams' last Broadway appearance was in "Dodsworth."

The first congregation in the New World was organized in Pernambuco, Brazil.

A pious Jew is expected to speed a synagogue to show his eagerness and to return slowly as with reluctant feet.

Nine additional pledges were announced by the Columbia chapter of Zeta Beta Tau.

The first American consul to Jerusalem was Warder Cresson who became a Jew and settled in Palestine.

Ruppert To Bid For Myer

NEW YORK (Spl.)—Col. Jacob Ruppert, New York Yankee owner, announced today he will make a determined attempt to purchase Buddy Myer, Jewish second base star, from the Washington Senators.

Visioning the number of Jewish patrons passing through the turnstiles to see a Jewish performer, Col. Ruppert is prepared to pay a heavy price for the Jewish ball player. Sports writers here consider it a matter of speculation whether the Washington Club will let Myer go at any price.

BERLIN (Spl.)—The authenticity of the cable disclosed here by Dr. Theodor Lewald, president of the German Olympic Committee, was verified when a dispatch from Oakland, Cal., stated that Helene Mayer, half-Jewish German fencing star, and Olympic champion, had accepted Germany's invitation to compete for her in the 1936 Games in Berlin.

The cable read: "Sickness delayed answering you and Tschammer. Acceptance left yesterday. Love."

Jewish leaders here were at a loss to understand Miss Mayer's action. She was ousted from the German fencing club with the advent of the Nazi regime because of her half-Jewish parentage.

Sugar cane was first transplanted from the Island of Madeira to Brazil by Portuguese Jews in the middle of the 16th century.

According to Joe Stancock, captain of the West Point eleven last season, Carl Goldenberg, fullback on the Army team this year, is the first Jewish player to make the Varsity in five years at the military institution.

Team Formed

A basketball team is being formed by the Achad H'AM Club, as part of an active season, according to Henry Marks, sponsor of the organization. Composed of boys of high school age, the Achad H'AM Clubs activities are athletic and cultural. The club meets each week in the Communal Building.

There's a color revolution afoot. The old order changeth, and it changeth pretty fast.

Traditions are just something to throw out the window and the more daring your color combinations the better, just now.

There are those, for instance, who would shudder at the use of bright blue with wine.

Sports Writers Perplexed By Mayer Action

OAKLAND (Spl.)—Newspapermen scratched their heads here in bewilderment as Helene Mayer, great woman fencer, announced she had already accepted an invitation to compete for Germany in the 1936 Olympics.

Veteran reporters pointed out that only last Friday Miss Mayer had denied receipt of any invitation, although the same day German sports officials were displaying a cable, now verified, in which the athlete accepted with "love" the Nazi bid. Newspapermen "smelled" a strong odor of collusion between the fencing star and German sports officials, evidently aimed at confounding opposition to the holding of the Games in Germany.
